We integrate education into the system, creating a cooperative storytelling experience that exercises critical thinking and fosters teamwork, skills that they can carry with them both in and out of the classroom.

The philosophy of League of Wayfinders is that role playing games are good for you. They bring people together, instill empathy and cooperation, and teach people that together they can solve difficult problems, overcome obstacles, and learn about themselves in the process. League of Wayfinders' programs offer kids a completely non-digital game that keeps them engaged. Groups ranging from 4-6 kids per instructor.
